

HONEYDEW SYNDROME

by autobrig

Hon · ey · dew Syn · drome

[huhn-ee-doo, -dyoo sin-droh, -druhm]

—noun

1. The urge one member of a relationship feels to fulfill any requests or tasks given by the other member.
2. The occurrence of mutual understanding between two people who, due to their different natures, should not understand each other under normal circumstances.